ENCCOG YOUTH CAMP VIOLENCE POLICY

The Eastern North Carolina Church of God Youth and Discipleship Board seeks to provide a safe, secure, and violence-free atmosphere for our camps. This policy has been developed as a safeguard against potential violence that may take place during the ENC Youth Camp Season. James 1:19-20 says, “¹⁹My dear brothers and sisters, take note of this: Everyone should be quick to listen, slow to speak and slow to become angry, ²⁰because human anger does not produce the righteousness that God desires.”(NIV)

Violence, in all of its forms, is prohibited at Eastern North Carolina Church of God Youth Camp.

The Eastern North Carolina Church of God Youth and Discipleship Board defines violence as any intentional passive or aggressive force or power directed from an individual(s) to another individual(s).

Violence can include but is not limited to:

- A. Verbal - Use of language exhibiting anger, threats, judging, ordering, name calling, or humiliation.
- B. Cyber/Electronic - Social media, texting, email, etc.
- C. Physical - Intentional act causing injury or trauma by bodily contact.
- D. Psychological - Behavior that could cause mental and/or emotional trauma, anxiety, or depression.

The ENCCOG will have a Camp Violence Response Team (CVRT) present at each week of camp that will deal with each occurrence of violence on a case-by-case basis. The CVRT will investigate any alleged acts of violence. If it is determined that violence has occurred, the CVRT will assess the level of violence. The CVRT will then determine appropriate disciplinary action according to the ENCCOG Code of Conduct. All individuals involved will be treated with respect and discretion. The CVRT shall have the authority to take any action, which in its sole discretion is, merited by the facts of each case. This authority shall include but not be limited to, the right to require any camper to leave the camp and return home.
