

Marcia Stigile Bio

Marcia Stigile serves as the Women's Ministries Director for the Eastern North Carolina Church of God State Office. Since 1985, she has faithfully served alongside her husband, Mike, in ministry leadership across numerous states and regions. Together, they have served as Regional Administrative Bishop and Women's Ministries Director for the Midlands Region, covering Iowa and Nebraska, as well as the state of Missouri. They also served for 22 years as State Youth Director and Girls Ministries Coordinator in multiple regions and states, including the Midlands, Arkansas, Mississippi, Eastern North Carolina, South Georgia, and Alabama. Prior to these roles, they served for more than 12 years in youth and pastoral ministry in the Delmarva-DC region.

A 1985 graduate of Lee University with a B.S. degree in Business, Marcia has held a variety of administrative roles in secular, local church, and state office settings. She is a credentialed minister in the Church of God, an anointed singer and worshipper, and has served faithfully as a soloist, on worship teams, and in choirs throughout her ministry journey.

Marcia is passionate about encouraging women to become all God has called them to be, serving with excellence, purpose, and impact. Whether speaking, leading, worshipping, or building relationships, her heart is to use every gift and opportunity to advance the Kingdom of God.

Born in Everett, Pennsylvania, Marcia is the daughter of Max and Mary Cornell and has two siblings, Mark and Michele. She met the love of her life, Mike, while attending Lee University, and they married in 1985. Together, they are blessed with two sons: Mike Jr., married to Christina, and Matthew, married to Tori. They are also blessed with three beautiful granddaughters: Michaela, Isabella, and Mackenzie Grace. Of all her roles, Marcia considers her highest calling to be that of wife, mother, and "Mimi."
